

REBUILD GALVESTON

The Plucky Citizens Refuse to Give up

And Will at once Commence a Bigger and Better Galveston

MUST BE SUBSTANTIAL

Probable that the City Will Compel Observance

Of a Strict Building Law as Well Built Houses Withstood the Storm

By Scripps-McRae Press Association.
Galveston, Sept. 18.—The sound of the hammer is beginning to be heard and the spirit displayed by the citizens remaining here, is remarkable. The work of rebuilding will be pushed as soon as material is secured. Business houses are beginning to restock and other business will soon resume.

AUTHENTIC LIST OF 3000 DEAD.

Houston Texas, Sept. 17.—The Houston Post prints a list of 2,701 names of the Galveston dead today, compiled from various sources, but believed to be authentic. There were hundreds of bodies burned, buried at sea and in the sand of which no identification was possible. There are many bodies still in the ruins of Galveston and scattered along the beach of the mainland and in various marshes where they were thrown by the water. Some of these bodies have been sent twenty miles inland along small water courses by the rush of high waters. Taking all things into consideration there seems no longer any doubt that the number of dead will reach beyond the estimates of 4,000 which have been made by Mayor Jones, Mayor P. G. Lowe and other reliable citizens of Galveston.

WILL REBUILD THE DESTROYED CITY.

Galveston, Texas, Sept. 13, by tug to Houston, Sept. 14.—The idea that Galveston is being abandoned by its people is a mistake. Hundreds and thousands are leaving, it is true, but this does not mean that thousands of people who have lost and suffered will not remain here and build new homes and continue their business. There is little fear of a repetition of the disaster among the old-time Galveston people. They say that Lisbon might as well have been abandoned after the earthquake as Galveston after the storm. In a few days the cotton men, bankers and business men of Galveston will get together, so they say, to make the city's rebuilding definite and decisive. They say that the chief lesson of the storm was that the building laws had been criminally lax.

The fact that every heavy well constructed building in town is standing gives the survivors consolation and hope. They say that if Galveston had been substantially constructed, there would have been comparatively little loss of life and if the people had not been permitted to build to the water's edge in the gulf side, the chief invitation to disaster would have been removed. In this statement they are certainly right to the extent that the clean sweep and sweep was along the gulf beach whose cheap lots encouraged the building of little homes, nearly always flimsy frame houses. The people built right up to the water, although the water and land were apparently on the same level.

It seems that the people of Galveston had been clinging to the "Moray theory." Moray, in his "Physical Geography of the Sea," written many years ago, said that the island of Galveston would never be caught in the center of a great hurricane. The idea was that the island, being on the extreme convex of the arc of the Gulf of Mexico would be protected on both sides. In 1875 and 1886 the great storms caused no loss of life and little loss of property in Galveston and seemed to bear out the "Moray" theory.

James S. Montgomery, who has lived here thirty-six years, is a leader in the new movement of confidence. He cites his own safety as an instance of what could have been the general story, instead of the story of death. He lived in a strong frame house which was pinned down by mud sills and not sitting on piers, as was the rule. The roof was shingles, which withstood the wind and rain best. Upon going home he nailed the doors tight and braced them to keep out the wind. Then he fastened the windows, which were of heavy glass, and as the water rose, cut holes in the floors so as to let the house fill to the level of the water and prevent it from being lifted by the tide. The house stood. Mr. Montgomery, who is an old time Galveston citizen, proposes that all

Don't Hesitate.

There is just one thing to use if your stomach is "out of order" and that is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The supposition is that you want a prompt cure and a lasting cure. That is why the "Discovery" is recommended as the one thing for your condition. It cures promptly, perfectly and permanently, diseases of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition. It's sure to help. It's almost sure to cure. It has completely cured ninety-eight per cent. of all those who have given it a fair and faithful trial.

"About ten years ago I began to have trouble with my stomach," writes Mr. Wm. Connolly, of 335 Walnut St., Lorain, Ohio. "I got so bad that I had to lay off quite often two and three days in a week. My stomach would bloat and I would belch up gas, and was in awful distress at such times. I have been treated by the best doctors in this city but got no help whatever. Some said I had cancer of the stomach, others dyspepsia. I have bought and tried everything I saw advertised for dyspepsia and stomach trouble, but continued to get worse all the time. About twelve months ago I was in such a condition that my friends had some fear about my recovery. It was then I wrote to you for advice. You told me that by my symptoms you thought I had liver complaint and advised the use of your Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Pellets in connection. These medicines I have taken as directed, and am very happy to state that I commenced to get better from the start and have not lost a day this summer on account of my stomach. I feel tip-top, and better than I have for ten years."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse the bowels and stimulate the liver.

buildings hereafter shall be erected under city specifications. A sea wall about three feet high on the gulf, with openings to let the water through so as to act as a breakwater and not dam it up, is another proposal of this leader of new Galveston.

His Watch and Hide Soaked.

Something new in the way of drunks was discovered in Iola Saturday afternoon. A befuddled man stopped at the L. Hobart home on south Walnut street and knocked at the door. Miss Daisy came to the door and asked what he wanted. He was laboring under the delusion that she had his watch which he had evidently pawned to someone and he asked her for it, showing money with which to pay for it. She denied having it and started to run across the porch to escape. He beat her around the porch and headed her off, but she fled the other way while he was looking for his balance which he lost in his rapid movement, and ran to the Chastain home. Mrs. Chastain telephoned for the police and they found the man sleeping sweetly in a wire chicken coop in Hobart's back yard, where he had wandered when Miss Daisy left. He entered the coop, sat down on a box and then fell over and went to sleep on the ground.

Farmers House Robbed.

Thursday while Mr. and Mrs. Baker, who live about three miles south of Iola, were in town with their children taking in the fair, their house was broken into and the furniture torn up considerably. The carpets were torn up, drawers rummaged and the furniture piled about in disorder, the thieves having made a search evidently for money. A suit of clothes, a razor, some articles of jewelry and other things were taken. The officers were notified by Mr. Baker and a search begun. A man and woman traveling in a covered wagon were overtaken near Chanute but a search failed to reveal any of the stolen goods, although the woman acted as if very desirous of getting away from the officers.

To Operate Manufacturing Plant.

The cement company has about completed arrangements to take charge of the plant of the Iola Manufacturing Company, which was closed down under foreclosure proceedings some months ago and sold to the Northrup. The company intends to lease and operate the property, both the wood-working and foundry departments, for a time and if the factory can be operated so that the company feels justified, it will be kept running steadily. The cement company uses a lot of wood work and also much material which the foundry could produce and when properly managed it ought to become one of Iola's most flourishing and useful institutions.

Comes from our neighbors. A neighbor of Joe Crook's of Britton, Ind., told him of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. He is cured of a case of indigestion that kept him down twelve years. Mr. Crook wishes us to refer any one to him who doubts the wonderful cure he found in Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which has gained an honorable foothold as a true remedy for constipation, indigestion, sick headache and stomach trouble. Victor Murdoch: The Huguley Press, Republican, said: "Rufus Tufle announces that this year he will not vote for Bryan. They still come." Next week the Huguley Banner, Democrat, said: "Rufus Tufle authorizes us to say that the statement that he would vote for McKinley this fall is a bare-faced lie. This is the method of campaign adopted by the Hannanites." Mr. Rufus Tufle of Huguley, says in the privacy of his front porch, "I'm cutting considerable ice in this community, at last. For years the newspapers would not mention me, but within the last week the community is afire over my political convictions. And I don't lie to do it, either. I'm going to vote for Debs."

Deafness Cannot be Cured.

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular free.

KRUGER LEAVES

The Boer President has Departed from the Country and the Boer Army is Divided into Inharmonious Factions

ROBERTS' PROCLAMATION States the Hopelessness of their Cause to Burghers

The Hague Delegates Again Appeal to all Peoples to Intervene in Africa

London, Sept. 17.—The following dispatch has been received at the war office from Lord Roberts:

"Machadodorp, Thursday, Sept. 13. —Krugger has fled to Lourenzo Marques, and Botha has been obliged to give over the command of the Boer army, temporarily, to Viljoen, on account of ill health. In consequence of this I have circulated a proclamation as follows:

"The late President Kruger, with Reitz and the archives of the South African republic, has crossed the Portuguese frontier and arrived at Lourenzo Marques with the view of sailing for Europe at an early date. Kruger has formally resigned the position which he held as president of the South African republic, thus severing his official connection with the Transvaal. Kruger's action shows how hopeless in his opinion is the war which has now been carried on for nearly a year and his desertion of the Boer cause should make clear to his fellow burghers that it is useless to continue the struggle any longer.

"It is probably unknown to the inhabitants of the Transvaal and the Orange River colony that nearly 15,000 of their fellow subjects are now prisoners of war, not one of whom will be released until those now under arms against us surrender unconditionally. "The burghers must be cognizant of the fact that no intervention in their behalf can come from any of the great powers, and, further, that the British empire is determined to complete the work which has already cost so many lives and carry to a conclusion the war declared against her by the late governments of the Transvaal and the Orange Free State, a war to which there can be only one ending."

BROKEN BRIC-A-BRACS

Mr. Major, the famous cement man, of New York, explains some very interesting facts about Major's Cement.

The multitude who use this standard article know that it is many hundred per cent better than other cements for which similar claims are made, but a great many do not know why. The simple reason is that Mr. Major uses the best materials ever discovered and other manufacturers do not use them, because they are too expensive and do not allow large profits. Mr. Major tells us that one of the elements of his cement costs $3.75 a pound, and another $2.65 a gallon, while a large share of the so-called cement and liquid sold upon the markets are nothing more than sixteen-cent glue, dissolved in water or citric acid, and, in some cases altered slightly in color and odor by the addition of cheap and useless materials.

Major's cement retails at fifteen cents and twenty-five cents a bottle, and when a dealer tries to sell a substitute you can depend upon it that his only object is to make larger profit. The profit on major's cement is as much as any dealer ought to make on any cement. And this is doubly true in view of the fact that each dealer gets his share of the benefit of Mr. Major's advertising, which now amounts to over $500 a month, throughout the country. Established in 1876.

Insist on having Major's. Don't accept any off-hand advice from a druggist. If you are at all handy (and you will be likely to find that you are a good deal more so than you imagine) you can repair your rubber boots and family slippers with Mr. Major's Cement and Major's Leather Cement.

And you will be surprised at how many dollars a year you will thus save.

If your druggist can't supply you, it will be forwarded by mail, either kind. Free of postage.
